cessfully in Montana. One instance was cited where a partial success had been in Beaverhead county four years ago by Phil Shenon and others, by which they made $30,000, but the timely discovery of the scheme prevented a loss to competent and one scorer. California mining men of an additional $50,000, "That." said the gentleman, "was a clever case. Phil had a prospect ore. He went to work on a piece of ground close by and put a shaft down seventy feet. He poured a great deal of water in the bottom and then threw his rich ore in and carefully filled up the shaft agains so that not a trace was visible on top to show that the ground had been torn up. He then went to work and drove a tunnel to tap this ore which he had placed in the shaft and a drift which he made at the bottom. There was a whole lot of good ore there, the 'vein' being fully fifty feet long. His tunnel progressed rapidly and in the course of time he 'struck'.

It did not take long for this to get out, and in the course of time a deal | Paul and Minneapolis to Helena and Butte get out, and in the course of time a deal was made and as a first payment Phil re-ceived $30,000. The purcasers set a force of men to work and had some slight trou-ble with water, but that was a good indica-tion. The vein was penetrated about thirty feet when, unfortunately for Phil, a pine chip was found in some of the ore and the fraud was frustrated."

"There was another close call in the Pipestone district a few years ago," said another gentleman, "and had it not been for A. J. Davis, a friend of his and an expert miner, would have been $10,000 poorer. A pair of pilgrims drove a tunner some distance and then bored a lot of drill holes in the rock. They prepared some kind of a chemical solution mixed with gold and injected this into the rock, and then carefully nacked the hole with the gold and injected this into the rock, and then carefully packed the hole with the drillings taken out and sealed the holes up to perfection. Assays were afterwards made, which ran high, and the would-be purchaser went to Davis and told him of the bonanza he had. 'I'll let you have the money,' said Davis, 'but postpone the sale for ten days, as I think something is wrong.' It was with much difficulty the postponement was secured, and meantime the lead was further developed and the smell of the acid gave the 'snap' away. Inter Mountain: The old Clark's smelter at Meaderville, a part of the Boston & Montana Copper company's plant, is at present in a state of suspension, owing to some very much needed repairs and improvements at the works, together with a scarcity of water. At the Old Colusa mine the the miners were laid off for two weeks, as they were so informed at the time. At the Harris & Lloyd tunnel all work that was 1291/2 North Main Street. SELECT they were so informed at the time. At the Harris & Lloyd tunnel all work that was not absolutely necessary is suspended entirely. The Mountain View will confine itself to working entirely on its first-class ore and and the second will be stored in the mine until work is again resumed on the old basis. At the West Colusa no reduction in the working force has been made. ENCORE CLUB,

The Southern Cross company has formed a new pool of its heavy stockholders, the old pool expering July 1. The new arrangement is to be in force six months. Work at the mine for the past few weeks has been confined to making a connection between the 150 foot level (110 feet from the shelf) and the surface for ventilation. geo. E. Rockwood, superintendent of the Tuscorora Mining company, is over from Butte.

S. C. Herchburg. St. Louis, Henry Nickel, Butte, and B. Little, Denver, are registered at the Cosmopolitan.

Herr Daniel E. Bandmann is at the Cosmopolitan.

Between the 150 foot level (110 feet from the shaft) and the surface for ventilation. Toward this work an upraise of 91 feet has been made, all in ore, and a shaft from above sunk 30 feet to meet the upraise. This shaft is also all in ore after reaching a depth of 12 feet. The air shaft will be completed by the end of this week, Then the 150 and 250 foot levels will be carried west to a point 350 feet from the shaft. They are now in 125 feet, all in ore. This development will, it is held, place in sight, at a conservative estimate, a two years' supply of ore for a 50-stamp mill, that being the size of mill which the company has determined to build.

A GREAT GOLD BELT.

A correspondent of the Salt Lake Tribune, writing from the Cœur d'Alenes, has the following to say of the country surrounding Murray: "One thing satisfied our party, and that is this: Murray is situated in the heart of one of the greatest gold belts on the American continent, and the day is not far distant when its praises will be sung to the clinking bars of gold bullion and the rattle of the yellow dust that is so plentifully scattered along its rivers and is to be found for digging in every guich, bar and run within a radius of thirty miles of Murray."
